

Building positive relationships with parents and carers of Autistic students makes school a better place for all.

Want to start a conversation? By gauging a person's comfort levels, respecting their privacy and showing an interest in them and their Autistic young people, you can help everyone feel included.

Interested in finding out more about inclusion?
Visit amaze.org.au for more information.

